

Figure 2-8: Organization of the lemniscal system.

- Cells of the primary sensory cortices (postcentral gyrus and posterior paracentral gyrus) give rise to axons that project either posteriorly to the superior parietal lobule or anteriorly to the precentral gyrus or the premotor and supplementary motor cortices located anterior